2013 Embraer Phenom 300

As the latest light jet offering from Embraer, the Phenom 300 was a clean sheet aircraft. The original Phenom 100 interior designed by BMW Group Designworks USA and Embraer has been extended by fourteen inches allowing for a larger lavatory, galley and a cabin that is configured comfortably for seven passengers. The aircraft is certified to 45,000 feet with the cabin at a comfortable 6,600 feet. The Phenom 300 has a range of up to 1,800 miles with six passengers. This Phenom 300 delivers in July 2013 and has a base price of $6,650,000 plus escalators.

Interior Configuration

A new standard was set in the design of the luxurious interior starting with one of the largest cabins in the light jet class. The spacious interior and the largest windows in a light jet provide an open, airy and inviting cabin for the passenger. With seventy-six cubic feet of baggage space there is room for almost anything a passenger wants to bring on board.

The interior materials, configuration and exterior colors as well as all of the options can still be selected to for this Phenom 300. The avionics in the Phenom 300 are the latest, new generation Embraer Prodigy flight deck based on the Garmin G-1000 system featuring 3 large 12-inch Garmin displays.
